Volunteer Role Description - Photography

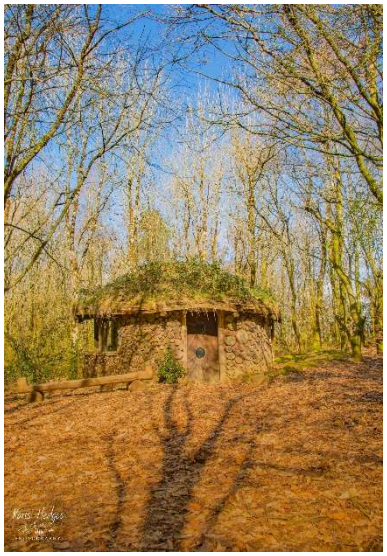

Purpose of the Role
Our Photographer Volunteers help capture the beauty, wildlife, people, and activities that make Denmark Farm Conservation Centre such a special place. Your images will support our communications, social media, website, funding applications, and promotional materials — helping us share our story, inspire visitors, and celebrate the work of our volunteers and community.

What the Role Involves
Depending on your interests and skills, tasks may include:

- Photographing wildlife, habitats, and seasonal changes across our 40 acre nature reserve
- Capturing images of volunteer days, events, workshops, and community activities
- Taking photos of conservation work, gardening projects, and site improvements
- Providing high quality images for our website, social media, newsletters, and printed materials
- Helping build a library of images that reflect the ethos and biodiversity of Denmark Farm
- Editing and organising photos before sharing them with staff
- (Optional) Supporting short video clips or social media content

You can focus on wildlife, landscapes, people, events — or a mix of everything.

Who We're Looking For
You don't need to be a professional photographer — enthusiasm and a good eye are what matter most.

- Interest in nature, wildlife, and outdoor photography
- Ability to work independently around the site
- Confidence photographing people (optional)
- Willingness to follow our guidelines on privacy, safeguarding, and wildlife disturbance
- Your own camera or smartphone with a good camera and the ability to share digital images with us via a file transfer website.
- Ages 16+ welcomed and family volunteering is welcomed and encouraged!

When and Where

- This role is very flexible. You can volunteer at times that suit you, during daylight hours
- Opportunities are available throughout the year, and event photography will be arranged in advance
- Wildlife and habitat photography can be done independently once you've had an induction, but all photos will be around Denmark Farm Conservation Centre, Betws Bledrws, Lampeter, SA48 8PB.

Support and Training
You will be provided with:

- A warm welcome and induction to Denmark Farm and our wildlife-friendly ethos
- Guidance on what types of images are most useful, and the best places to look for wildlife
- Clear information about permissions, privacy, and safe working practices
- Opportunities to learn about wildlife, conservation, and the stories behind the images you capture

What You'll Gain

- A chance to develop your photography skills in a stunning natural setting
- Opportunities to build a portfolio of wildlife, landscape, and community images
- The satisfaction of contributing to conservation and community engagement
- Recognition for your work in our communications (with credit where appropriate)
- Being part of a friendly, supportive volunteer community

Practical Information

- Please bring your own camera or smartphone
- Wear suitable outdoor clothing and footwear
- Follow our wildlife-friendly photography guidelines (no disturbance, no flash near sensitive species, etc.)
- We will ask you to complete a simple permissions form for sharing images
- Travel expenses may be reimbursed in line with our volunteer policy
- All volunteers must follow our health & safety and safeguarding guidance
